

Prodigy's ACL Custom Application Development Programs draws on the extensive industry knowledge and experience of our consultants and technical support staff. Whether your business challenges lie in the areas of fraud detection, data quality management, or auditing for controls compliance, or within the specific regulatory and operating environments, Prodigy's consultants can incorporate standard application templates into customised solutions uniquely suited to your organisation's needs. This not only reduces development time and cost for your organisation, but assures you of access to the "best practice" techniques.

ACL Script Outsourcing

By automating sophisticated analytics and embedding audit "best practices" in organisations' business operations, management receives timely notification of anomalies and control breaches, mitigating risks of ineffective or missing controls within application systems. However, due to the core responsibilities of auditors in the organisation as well as the constraints in resources, users find the lack of time to automate the analysis and reports, to achieve the objective of Continuous Auditing.

Understanding the importance of continuous auditing and monitoring, Prodigy's consulting team assisted many customers in developing scripts for fast results, leading to increased confidence in the corporate data and financial reporting.

With the scripts developed, you can now free your valuable staff resources to focus on critical analysis and investigation, and to resolving potential weaknesses or deficiencies in internal controls and core business processes.
